DETAILED ACTION

This action is responsive to the amendment filed 27 June 2006. Claims 38, 44, and 50 were cancelled. Claims 1-37, 39-43, and 45-52 are currently pending.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-18, 34, 39-42, 46, and 49, drawn to a communications device, classified in class 455, subclass 556.2.
- II. Claims 19-29, drawn to methods for creating, sending, or receiving SMS messages, classified in class 455, subclass 466.
- III. Claims 30-33, 35, 47-48, and 51-52, drawn to wireless message transmission systems, classified in class 380, subclass 247.
- IV. Claim 36-37, drawn to a method for creating a digital signature, classified in class 380, subclass 30.
- V. Claims 43 and 45, drawn to a network server, classified in class 455, subclass 466.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions III and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the subcombination includes limitations, such as the master microprocessor and SIM, that are not required for the patentability of the combination. The subcombination has separate utility such as cellular communications.

Inventions III and V are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the subcombination includes limitations, such as the interface module and concatenation module, that are not required for the patentability of the combination. The subcombination has separate utility such as generating a full message from a plurality of concatenated free-hand drawn messages that are not sent via SMS.

Inventions I and V are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I has separate utility such as cellular communications. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions II and I are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the apparatus can be used to practice a different process, such as the method of providing a digital signature as described in claims 36-37.

Inventions IV and I are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the apparatus can be used to practice a different process, such as the method of creating, sending, or receiving SMS messages as described in claims 19-29.

The examiner has required restriction between inventions. Where applicant elects an invention, and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable claim will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a).

Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
